Chogori (K2)
as seen from Godwin-Austen Glacier, Karakoram
Dr. Jules Jacot-Guillarmod (1902)

This classic view of Chogori (K2), the second highest mountain in the world at 8,611m, is the first known photograph ever made of the “mountaineer`s mountain”. It was taken by Dr. Jules Jacot-Guillarmod using a “Verascope Richard” camera, during the Eckenstein-Crowley expedition of 1902. This was the first serious attempt to climb K2 and reached a height of approximately 6,525m. Jacot-Guillarmod served as the expedition doctor and published his account of the expedition – “Six Mois dans l`Himalaya, le Karakoram et l`Hindu-Kush” (1904). This particular image has not been previously published in any account of the expedition and was selected for the cover of Alpinist 37. We are pleased to offer, from the Bob A. Schelfhout Aubertijn Collection, magnificent, never-before-published prints (both Limited and Regular Editions) of this historic first photograph of K2.

— another copy. Regular Edition, Image size 10” x 10”, Paper size 12” x 12”, printed on Fujicolor Crystal Archive Matte paper; new. #25929, $95.-
Brill, David. Desire & Ice: Searching for Perspective atop Denali. 2002 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.x, 258, 9 color photos, wraps; new. $227.87, $46. -- $14.95. A very good account of a guided climb to the top of Mount McKinley. Brill’s engaging narrative puts forth a number of important topics from getting ready for such an expedition to group dynamics to dealing with the hazards of the mountain and everyday life. Highly recommended reading for anyone who wants to get a feel for what climbing this great mountain is like.

Buhl, Hermann. Achttausend Drüber und Drunter. 1955 F. A. Brockhaus Verlag, Leipzig, rep, 8vo, pp. 367, photo frontis, 18 bw photos, grey cloth; dj lightly rubbed, chipped top spine, vg, cloth fine. #25897, $39. -- Buhl is considered to be one of the top climbers of all time. He was the first to make the first ascents of two 8000m peaks, Broad Peak and Nanga Parbat. His solo ascent of Nanga Parbat, from the final camp, ranks as one of the outstanding feats in climbing history. This autobiography, published prior to his death in 1957, covers his early climbs culminating with Nanga Parbat. This is the German edition of ‘Achttausend Drüber Pilgirmsgruppe’. Neate B210, Yak B291.

Burns, Kerry L. & Cameron M. Burns. Eds. Climb: Tales of Man Versus Boulder, Crag, Wall, and Peak. 2012 US, 1st, 8vo, pp xi, 243, 14 bw photos, map, wraps; new. #25855, $14.95. A cliffhanging collection of 15 of the world’s greatest climbing adventures. From straightforward narratives of ascents to meticulous self-examination to spiritual reveries, climbing prompts men and women to pour forth essays, articles, and books that are unlike any other field of literature. Climb brings together tales of climbers, boulderers, and mountaineers from around the world. These include Francesco Petrarch’s 1336 ascent of Mount Ventoux, Pat Ament’s solo ascent of Nanga Parbat, from the final camp, ranks as one of the outstanding feats in climbing history. This autobiography, published prior to his death in 1957, covers his early climbs culminating with Nanga Parbat. This is the German edition of ‘Achttausend Drüber Pilgirmsgruppe’. Neate B210, Yak B291.

Cassin, Riccardo. 50 Years of Alpinism. 1981 Mountainae, Seattle, 1st, 8vo, pp.207, 90 bw photos, 6 maps/diagrams, green cloth; signed Richard Irving, dj fine, cloth fine. #11079, $66. -- $59. -- Autobiography of one of Italy’s finest mountaineers. Cassin is synonymous with some of the most important ascents in mountaineering. He made many first ascents in the 1930’s, the lead on which Bonatti made the first ascent of Gasherbrum IV (1957), led the first ascent of McKinley’s Cassin Ridge (1961), and led the 1975 Lhotse south face attempt with Messner. Also includes the Dolomites, Walker Spur, Peru, and more. Neate C21, Yak C47.

Child, Greg. Over the Edge: The True Story of Four American Climbers’ Kidnap and Escape in the Mountains of Central Asia. 2002 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.xiii, 284, 16 bw photos, 3 maps, red/black cloth; signed Child & John Dickey, dj fine, cloth fine. #25832, $39. -- A gripping read by a great writer. Child recreates the hair-raising, hour-by-hour drama of four young American rock climbers who were abducted while in the midst of a wall climb in the Aka-Su region of Kyrgyzstan. Greg won the 1987 AAC Literary Award for his writing achievements.

---

Postcards from the Ledge: Collected Mountaineering Writings of Greg Child. 1998 US, 1st, 8vo, frontis, pp. 223, 53 bw photos, black/white cloth; signed dj, fine cloth fine. #15884, $39. -- More great writings from outstanding climber, and writer, Greg Child. His clever wit, sharp observations, and insightful reflections cover the full spectrum of the mountaineering experience and continue to entertain. Winner 1998 National Outdoor Book Award for Outdoor Literature.

---

Thin Air: Encounters in the Himalaya. 1988 Patrick Stephens, Northamptonshire, 1st, 8vo, pp.192, 36 color & 19 bw photos, map, appendices, blue cloth; signed, dj, fine cloth fine. #25842, $89. -- Child’s first book recounts his climbs on Shiviing, Lobsang Spire, Broad Peak, & Gasherbrum IV. This UK edition preceded the US edition by two years.

Compagnoni, Achille. Il Trilocore sul K2 [The Tricolor on K2]. 1965 Mondadori, Verona, 1st, 8vo, pp. 85, 8 color & 19 bw photos, pictorial cloth; signed, issued w/o dj, cloth fine. #24412, $59.5. -- This is the second of Compagnoni’s three books providing his first-person account on the Italian ascent of K2 in 1954, this being the scarcest. In Italian, no English translation.

Cox, James R. Classics in the Literature of Mountaineering and Mountain Travel from the Francis P. Farquhar Collection of Mountaineering Literature: An Annotated Bibliography. 1980 Univ Calif Lib, LA, ltd 500 copies, 4to, pp. xxii, 58, photo frontis, 7 bw photos, blue cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth crisp, very fine. #24494, $195. -- A nice bibliography broken down geographically – Europe, Asia, North America, South America, Other Areas, and Journals, with 110 entries. With a preface by Nick Clinch, James Cox, and Mair Dawson. One of only 500 copies. Scarce.

Curran, Jim. Here, There and Everywhere: The Autobiography of Jim Curran. 2012 UK, 1st, 4to, pp. 388, 161 bw photos, 58 color & 26 bw illus, black cloth; signed, dj & cloth new. #25951, $59.95. Curran, freelance cameraman, writer, lecturer, climber, artist, and master storyteller, has finally produced the biggest story he can tell. For readers of his previous books it is full of surprises, conundrums, and split lives. Public school educated, he is a sharp bullshit detector, most acutely in himself. Teaching in Bristol during the week, he lived a different life in Sheffield on weekends. A teacher of art, he developed a career as a mountaineering filmmaker before realizing he’d always wanted to be a painter. And, this great humorist turns out to be an intermittent sufferer from depression. The warmest of people, Curran reveals a strand of loneliness throughout his life. By turns this book is hilarious and heart-breaking, anecdotal and reflective, sociable and self-doubting. Curran has climbed and filmed on fifteen expeditions to the Himalaya (Everest, K2, Kongur, Sepu Kangri, Trango Tower), with all the greats of the British mountaineering scene, including Chris Bonington, Joe Tasker, Alan Rouse, Joe Brown and Peter Boardman, and written seven other books. He has also filmed in the Andes, Caucasus, Atlas mountains, and China, and nearer home, on the Old Man of Hoy and St Kilda. This book is chock full of illustrations and weighs four pounds.

Davidson, Jim & Kevin Vaughan. The Ledge: An Adventure Story of Friendship and Survival on Mount Rainier. 2011 US, 1st, 8vo, pp. xii, 269, 17 bw photos, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25830, $25.95. In June 1992, best friends Jim Davidson and Mike Price stood triumphantly atop Washington’s Mount Rainier, celebrating what they hoped would be the first of many milestones in their lives as passionate young mountaineers. Instead, their conquest gave way to catastrophe when a cave-in plunged them 80-feet inside a glacial crevasse — the pitch-black, ice-walled hell that every climber’s nightmares are made of. An avid adventurer from an early age, Davidson was already a seasoned climber at the time of the Rainier ascent, fully aware of the risks and hopelessly in love with the challenge. But in the blur of a harrowing free fall, he suddenly found himself challenged by nature’s grandeur at its most unforgiving. Trapped on a narrow, unstable frozen ledge, deep below daylight and high above a yawning chasm, he would desperately battle crumbling ice and snow that threatened to bury him alive, while struggling in vain to save his fatally injured companion. And, with little equipment, no partner, and rapidly dwindling hope, he would have to make a fateful choice — between the certainty of a slow, lonely death or the seeming impossibility of climbing for his life.

At once a heart-stopping adventure story, a heartfelt memoir of friendship, and a stirring meditation on fleeting mortality and immutable nature, The Ledge chronicles one man’s transformative odyssey from the dizzying heights of elation and awe to the punishing depths of grief and hard-won wisdom. This book’s visceral, lyrical prose sings the praises of the physical world’s wonders, while searching the souls of those willing, for better or worse, to fully embrace it.

Davis, Wade. Into the Silence: The Great War, Mallory, and the Conquest of Everest. 2011 US, 1st, thick 8vo, pp.xiv, 655, 41 bw photos, 2 maps, map eps, black/grey cloth; dj & cloth new. #25843, $32.50. In this magisterial work of history and adventure, based on more than a decade of prodigious research in British, Canadian, and European archives, and months in the field in Nepal and Tibet, Davis vividly re-creates British climbers’ epic attempts to scale Everest in the early 1920s. With new access to unpublished letters, diaries, regimental records, and Tibetan monastery accounts, Davis recounts the heroic efforts of George Mallory and his fellow climbers to conquer the mountain in the face of treacherous terrain and furious weather. Into the Silence sets their remarkable achievements in sweeping historical context; Davis shows how the exploration originated in nineteenth-century imperial ambitions.
and he takes us far beyond the Himalayas to the trenches of World War I, where Mallory and his generation found themselves and their world utterly shattered. In the wake of the war that destroyed all notions of honor and decency, the Everest expeditions, led by these scions of Britain's elite, emerged as a symbol of national redemption and hope. This is a massive and meticulously researched work.

Dawes, Johnny. Full of Myself. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.298, 118 color & 52 bw photos, 5 sketches, illus eps, blue cloth; signed, dj & cloth new. #25872, $49.95 Dawes, one of the world’s best climbers in the 1980s, presents his self-published autobiography. Famously for his dynamic style and bold ascents, Dawes added two new grades (ES and E9) to the British climbing grading system. The latter was a result of his first ascent of ‘Indian Face’ on the Welsh crag Clogwyn Du’r Ardda. “An insight into the mind of one of the greatest and most daring rock climbers of the 20th century - sometimes very funny, sometimes very scary.” – Joe Brown

Deavoll, Pat. Wind from a Distant Summit. 2011 NZ, 1st, 8vo, pp.264, 29 color & 2 bw photos, wraps; signed, new. #25882, $35.99

For over three decades Pat Deavoll has been climbing at the elite level of her sport. Her climbing resume is long and distinguished as she has progressed from the Southern Alps of New Zealand, to the Canadian Rockies and Alaska, and now undertakes world-class expeditions to the great mountain ranges of Central Asia. Her specialty of recent years has been to make small-team, first ascents of remote 6-7000m peaks in Tibet, China, India, Pakistan, and Afghanistan. She tells of her early climbing in the mountains of NZ, and of how far a singular level of drive, determination and talent has taken her from these beginning - there are few mountaineers in NZ, women or men, who have sustained her level of achievement for so many years. Pat also delves into the more personal aspects of elite mountaineering; the sacrifices required to lead a life lived out on the edge, the challenges of being a woman in an activity so dominated by men, and an exploration of the motivation that drives her and others to take such extreme risks. Remarkably, Pat has achieved all of this despite a life-long struggle with clinical depression.

Desio, Ardito. La Conquista del K2 [The Conquest of K2]. 1954 Garzanti, Milano, 1st, 8vo, pp.xiii, 250, (64), fldg photo frontis, 16 color & 80 bw (2 fldg) photos, 3 color maps (1 fldg), blue cloth; signed Erich Abram, Achille Compagnoni, & Lino Lacedelli, dj w/edge chips, taped on inside of spine, good, cloth w/ SIAE blindstamp on title page, near fine. #23364, $975.

The official account of the 1954 Italian first ascent of K2. Compagnoni and Lacedelli were the two summiteers. This original Italian edition has more photos than the English language translations. This copy has the blindstamp of the Società Italiana degli Autori ed Editori (SIAE, Italian Authors and Publishers Association) as I have seen in other copies. A unique copy.

—, another copy, signed Achille Compagnoni & Lino Lacedelli, cloth worn, spine pasted to tep, good+. #23287, $495.

—, another copy, signed Walter Bonatti, dj w/ most of spine missing, chipped, torn, poor, cloth w/ SIAE blindstamp on title page, small ink owner’s name in two places, vg. #25887, $975.

This signed copy is quite interesting as Bonatti’s signature on this book is very rare, given the controversial nature of the copy, and his signature looks much more like one would expect, as it changed later on.

Dhillon, Dr. Harish. More than Everest: He Conquered the Hearts of Men - The Extraordinary Life of Autar Singh Cheema. 2011 India, 1st, 4to, pp.261, 163 color & 107 bw photos, 2 color & 1 illus, 3 maps, page-ribbon, pictorial cloth; dj & cloth new. #25870, $64.95

This is the remarkable story of Autar Singh Cheema – the first Indian to climb Everest. Born in pre-partition Punjab on 15 January 1938, he grew up amidst his birth, through school and university, as a highly decorated paratrooper in the Indian Army, as the first Indian to reach the summit of Everest, as a fantastic commanding officer, as a loyal son who gave up an illustrious career to look after his family, as a forward thinking farmer who revolutionized life in the small town of Ganganagar, and finally, as the brave soldier who fought a losing battle with leukaemia. He passed away on 16 November 1989.

Cheema’s preparations to climb Everest through 1964, the arduous journey to the summit in May 1965 as well as the fame and glory of the successful climb are described in great detail. Also provided are rare diary entries recorded by Cheema that give a very real taste of the challenges involved in climbing Everest in the 1960s. Written with great sensitivity and attention to detail, this book presents fascinating insights into the life of one of the most respected figures in the Indian Army and mountaineering circles and pays a fitting tribute to a gentleman who truly conquered the hearts of all those he came in contact with. This is a must-read for those who are interested in mountaineering, as well as for anyone who loves the thrill of adventure.

Dickinson, Matt. The Death Zone: Climbing Everest through the Killer Storm. 1997 Hutchinson, London, 1st, 8vo, pp.211, 17 color & 18 bw photos, 3 maps, black cloth; inscribed, dj fine, cloth fine. #25888, $49.-

Matt Dickinson was a member of the 1996 British Himalayan Kingdoms team assigned to film Alan Hinkes 8000m quest. He reached Everest’s summit, via the North Ridge, and became the first Briton to film on the summit, and return. He presents his views of the 1996 season including an account of the three Indo-Tibetan Border Police expedition members who died on the north side. This is one of 20 books related to the Everest disaster of 1996. In the US this was retitled ‘The Other Side of Everest’.

Diemberger, Kurt & Roberto Mantovani. K2: Challenging the Sky. 1997 Mountaineers, Seattle, 1st, 4to, pp.144, photo frontis, 115 color & 40 bw photos, 2 maps, blue cloth; signed Kurt Diemberger, Charley Mac, Nazir Sabir, dj fine, cloth fine. #23581, $145.

A beautiful large-format book detailing the history of K2 through 1995 in both word and image.

Douglas, Ed. Mountaineers: Great Tales of Bravery and Conquest. 2011 Smithsonian, Royal Geographical Society, The Alpine Club, NY, 1st, 4to, pp.360, photo frontis, 357 color & 397 bw photos, 93 color & 59 bw illus, 17 maps, map eps, pictorial dj; dj & cloth new. #25847, $39.95

Celebrating a rich tradition of bravery, thirst for knowledge, and pursuit of glory, Mountaineers tells the stories of the pioneers who first scaled the heights of this planet. This is a lavish visual survey of the world’s greatest mountaineers – who they were, where they went, and how their conquests led to both scientific discovery and personal glory. This oversized book weighs five pounds.

Eggle, Albert. The Everest-Lhotse Adventure. [1957] Harper, NY, 1st, 8vo, pp.222, color frontis, 31 bw photos, 2 maps, blue cloth; signed Ernst Reiss, dj rubbed, vg+, cloth near fine. #25932, $395.

— Account of the 1956 Swiss first ascent of Lhotse, made by Reiss and Fritz Luchsinger, and second ascent of Everest. See Neate E11, SB E01, Yak E18.

Evans, Charles. Kangchenjunga: The Untrodden Peak. 1957 Dutton, NY, 1st, 8vo, pp.xvii, 187, 51 bw photos, 2 maps, 5 diagrams, appendices, black cloth; signed George Band & Tony Streather, dj chipped top spine, vg+, cloth fine. #25933, $195.

— Account of the British first ascent in 1955. This copy is signed by both George Band and Tony Streather who both reached the summit, on successive days. Band was also the youngest member of the successful 1953 British Everest Expedition. Neate E27, Yak E62.

— The Quest for Mount Everest Postcard Set. 2009 Royal Geographical Society, London, set of 30 oversized postcards (6 color & 24 bw), in booklet; new. #25852, $9.95

Everett, Boyd N., Jr. The Organization of an Alaskan Expedition. 1984 Gorak Books, Pasadena, 1st, 8vo, pp.112, photo frontis, 28 bw photos, 2 maps, wraps; price sticker on cover, else fine. #25824, $14.95

The first detailed book to describe the tasks necessary to prepare a mountaineering expedition to the Alaska Range, Wrangell Mountains, Chugach Range, and St. Elias Mountains. Topics include route planning, glacier flying, regulations, avalanches, equipment, food, climbing strategies, weather, and ethics. Despite its date this book still has much to offer. Everett made two ascents of McKinley, a new route on St. Elias, two ascents of Logan, a new route on King Peak, and the first ascent of Mount King George. He was killed in an

Top of the World Books
Email: greg@topworldbooks.com
182 Orchard Commons Rd
Hinesburg VT 05461-8999 USA
Phone: 802-482-7287 Fax: 802-482-5050
Filippi, Filippo de. The Ascent of Mount St. Elias [Alaska] by H. R. H. Prince Luigi Amedeo di Savoia Duke of the Abruzzi. 1900 Archibald Constable, Westminster, 1st, royal 8vo, pp.xvi, 241, photo frontis, 34 photogravure plates, 117 bw photos, 4 fldg panoramas, 2 fldg color maps, appendices, teg, original gilt-lettered green cloth; cloth rebacked w/ original spine strip laid down, some corner/edge wear, chipping to edges of original spine, front free endpaper insertion dated 1900, name, front hinge tender, very good. #15033, $1595.

A wonderful book on the first ascent of this 18,000-foot peak. Most of the magnificent photographic illustrations are by the great mountain photographer, Vittoria Sella. The original binding, however, was poorly conceived and the vast majority of all copies have had to be rebound or rebacked due to the gutta percha latex glue which was used. Neate F24, Wickersham 6361.

Fitzgerald, E. A. The Highest Andes: A Record of the First Ascent of Aconcagua and Tupungato in Argentina, and the Exploration of the Surrounding Valleys. 1899 Methuen, London, 1st, thick 8vo, pp.xvi, 390, photo frontis w/tissue guard, 44 bw photos/illus (1 fldg), 2 fldg maps (1 color), appendices, gold dec red cloth; cloth spine lightly sunned, some foxing to end papers as is common w/this work, name dated 1947, 1 map w/ folded tear, tight, vg. #22145, $325.

The account of the first, and second, ascent of the highest mountain in the Western Hemisphere. Fitzgerald had accompanied Sir Martin Conway on his tour of the Alps and led an expedition to attempt New Zealand's Mt. Cook. On this large expedition he himself failed to reach the summit, and never climbed again, although his guide Matthias Zarbriggen and two other members did so. The appendices cover the natural history of the region. An important work on the Andes. Neate F37.

Freshfield, Douglas W. The Exploration of the Caucasus. 1896 Arnold, London, 1st, 2 vol, thick 4to, v1 pp.xxii, 278, photo frontis w/tissue guard, 38 full-page photos w/tissue guards, 69 text photos, fldg map, fldg panorama; v2 pp.x, 295, photo frontis w/tissue guard, 36 full-page photos w/tissue guards, 46 text photos, 3 color fldg maps (1 in pocket), 3 fldg panoramas (2 in back), appendices; teg, uncut, original gilt-dec beveled green cloth; cloth spines faded as usual, corners bumped, vol I w/ traces of label on fep & ’With the Publishers Compliments’ stamp on ½ title, vol II w/ scuff marks on covers, stain on front cover, pulled top spine, rear hinge starting, 1 panorama w/ extra fold else all panoramas & maps w/ orig folds & no tears, very good. #24848, $1595.

A great mountain explorer, and Alpine Club President, Freshfield climbed extensively in the Alps and Caucasus. In 1868, he explored the central Caucasus making the first ascent of Kazbek (16,546’), Elbruz (18,470’), and several other peaks. He returned to the Caucasus in 1887 and 1889 following which he wrote this book. A number of the photos are by Vittoria Sella. This is a monumental work. Neate F64.

Gammelgaard, Lene. Climbing High: A Woman’s Account of Surviving the Everest Tragedy. 1999 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.xvi, 211, 29 bw photos, map, blue cloth; signed Pete Athans, dj fine, cloth fine. #16919, $39.

Lene Gammelgaard was a friend of Scott Fischer and a member of his Mountain Madness team in 1996. She became the first Scandinavian woman to reach the summit of Everest. She recounts the weeks leading up to the fateful summit day and the devastating night spent huddled on the South Col with the remnants of the other teams. Pete Athans was a member of the IMAX team and assisted with the rescue following the storm. This is a translation of her Danish bestseller.

Hannigan, Tim. Murder in the Hindu Kush: George Hayward and the Great Game. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.254, 14 bw photos, 3 maps, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25958, $37.95

On a bright July morning in 1870 the British explorer George Hayward was brutally murdered high in the Hindu Kush. Who was he, what had brought him to this wild spot, and why was he killed? Told in full for the first time, this is the gripping tale of Hayward’s journey from a Yorkshire childhood to a place at the forefront of the ‘Great Game’ between the British Raj and the Russian Empire, and of how, driven by an ‘insane desire,’ he crossed the Western Himalayas, tangled with despotic chieftains and ended up on the wrong side of both the Raj and the mighty Maharaja of Kashmir. Hannigan explores the controversies that surrounded his death, travelling in Hayward’s footsteps to bring the story up to date, and to reveal how the echoes of the Great Game still reverberate across Central Asia in the twenty-first century. Shortlisted for the 2011 Boardman-Tasker Award.

Hattinig, Garth. Climbing: The World’s Best Sites. 1999 US, 1st, 4to, pp.160, photo frontis, 232 color & 4 bw photos, 26 sketches, map, photo eps, blue cloth; signed Doug Scott, dj & cloth new. #17147, $75.

This beautiful book offers essential guidance and inspiration to climbers and mountain-top enthusiasts covering a variety of climbing. Special emphasis is on Himalayan, Big Wall, and Alpine climbs. Includes personal profiles of top climbers and a time line from 218 BC.

Henry, Emil. Triumph and Tragedy: The Life of Edward Whymper. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.xxxi, 428, 3 bw photos, 51 illus, 4 maps, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25959, $35.95

An engaging account of the extraordinary life of Edward Whymper (1840-1911), the best known but perhaps least understood mountain climber of the 19th century. Acclaimed as the first to scale the Matterhorn, Whymper personifies the spirited amateurism of the Golden Age of Mountaineering (1854-1865). Accompanying a young but supremely confident Whymper on exhilarating ascents and narrow escapes amid beautiful, often dangerous Alpine peaks, Henry lays bare the trauma of his companions’ deaths on the Matterhorn, and empathizes with him during the intense pressures of the accident’s aftermath. This thoroughly researched biography then moves on to Whymper’s post-Matterhorn years. Following the publication of his classic ‘Scrambles Amongst the Alps’, Whymper travels first to Greenland’s unexplored interior and then to the high Andes mountains of South America where he becomes the first westerner to reach a 20,000 foot summit. In later life he is recognized as a noted explorer and the author of two best-selling books illustrated with drawings from a sketch-pad kept always in his shirt pocket. Spread throughout are examples of Whymper’s accomplishments as an author, artist, natural scientist, pioneering photographer, lecturer, and raconteur.

Herzog, Maurice. Annapurna: First Conquest of an 8000-meter Peak [26,493 feet]. 1953 Dutton, NY, BOMC, 8vo, pp.316, color frontis, 2 color & 24 bw photos, 8 maps (1 fldg color), black/blue cloth; signed, dj v/g, cloth w/bookplate, fine. #25964, $75.

A classic, the first ascent of an 8000-meter peak. Herzog led the successful 1950 French expedition which placed two on the summit but suffered severe frostbite. Winner 2010 National Outdoor Book Award in the Classic category.

This is Hillery’s account of his trip in 1951 to Everest and Cho Oyu with Shipton and with the 1953 British Everest expedition. This is a great read. Neate H81.

—. View from the Summit. 1999 Doubleday, London, 1st, 8vo, pp.310, 64 color & 22 bw photos, 4 maps, map eps, grey cloth; signed, dj fine, cloth fine. #17747, $175.

Hillery’s autobiography includes not only his early climbs but also after climbing Everest and crossing Antarctica. This is a thoughtful and honest reappraisal of a life spent pushing the human ability to its limits and relishing the challenges thrown down by the elements. This first UK hardcover edition contains the copyright page error which states “All of the characters in this book are fictitious, and any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead, is purely coincidental.” This error appears only in this UK hardcover edition and at least some of these copies were withdrawn once this error was discovered. This is the preferred edition of this book.

— & George Lowe. East of Everest: An Account of the New Zealand Alpine Club Himalayan Expedition to the Barun Valley in 1954. 1956 H & S, London, 1st, 4to, pp.70, 63 bw photos, 3 maps, blue cloth; signed Hillary & Lowe, dj unclipped, spine browned, small hole back cover, vg., cloth fine. #22489, $325.

This expedition climbed 19 peaks over 20,000’, made the first ascent of Baruntse (23,690’), and attempted Chamlang (24,012’). Neate H79, SB H16, Yak H189.
Hunt, John. Steps of Courage: My Parents’ Journey from Nazi Germany to America. 2011 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.xiii, 316, 57 bw photos, black cloth; signed dj & cloth new. #25946, $28.99

Following her parents death, Hoerlin discovered a suitcase filled with over 500 love letters between her mother Kate Tietz Schmid, who was part of Munich’s intellectual and musical elite, but Jewish, and her father Hermann Hoerlin, a world record-holding German mountaineer and aspiring physicist, as well as a staunch anti-fascist. Prior to meeting Kate, Hermann had made a number of first winter ascents in the Alps with Austrian Erwin Schneider. In 1930, as part of an international team, the duo summited Jongsong Peak (24,334’) in the Himalaya, setting a record for the highest mountain climbed at the time. In 1932 he set up expeditions. The fifth volume touches on the difficult aspect of death in the success on six more peaks. In 2002 Wielicki issued his Winter Manifesto to the winter ascents in the Alps with Austrian Erwin Schneider. In 1930, as part of an international team, the duo summited Jongsong Peak (24,334’) in the Himalaya, setting a record for the highest mountain climbed at the time. In 1932 he set up expeditions.

Hoerlin, Bettina. Steps of Courage: My Parents’ Journey from Nazi Germany to America. 2011 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.xiii, 316, 57 bw photos, black cloth; signed dj & cloth new. #25946, $28.99

Iserman, Maurice & Stewart Weaver. Fallen Giants: A History of Himalayan Mountaineering from the Age of Empire to the Age of Extremes. 2008 US, 3rd, 8vo, pp.xii, 579, photo frontis, 64 bw photos, 12 drawings, 7 bw maps, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25851, $349.95 $14.99

The first comprehensive history of Himalayan mountaineering in fifty years. The authors offer detailed, original accounts of the most significant climbs since the 1890s. They discuss the effects of political and social change on the world of mountaineering, and offer a penetrating analysis of a culture that once emphasized teamwork and fellowship among climbers, but now has been eclipsed by a scramble for individual fame and glory. This is a scholarly work which exposes the reader to the amazing stories and sacrifices held within the body of mountaineering literature. Additionally, the historian, scholar, and collector will delight in the unique, in-depth look at the evolution of climbing, and its driving factors, in the Himalaya. With extensive, detailed notes. Winner Best Work of Mountaineering History at the 2008 Banff Mountain Book Festival, winner 2008 National Outdoor Book Award in the History/Biography category, shortlisted for the 2008 Boardman-Tasker Award, and nominated for a 2008 Pulitzer Prize! This book weighs 2.5 pounds.

[Japan]. Gunma-ken Himalaya Expedition Committee. The Ascent of Dhaulagiri I from the South East Ridge 1978. 1980 Gunma-ken Mountaineering Union, Maebashi, 1st, 8vo, pp.34 + 306, 33 color photos + 43 portraits, bw illus, charts (1 fldg), map eps, gray cloth; case rubbed, vg+. #25458, $185.00

This expedition made the sixth ascent of Dhaulagiri, the first by the difficult Southeast Ridge. Six members reached the summit although four were lost in the process. In Japanese with photo captions and ten-page summary in English, no English translation. Yak Jk213 (3rd), j265 (2nd).

[Japan]. Gunma-ken Himalaya Expedition Committee. Dhaulagiri – IV, 1972. 1974 Gunma-ken Mountaineering Union, Maebashi, 1st, 8vo, pp.26 + 197, 4 color & 34 bw photos + 22 portraits, map eps, gray cloth; slipcase fine, issued w/o dj, cloth w/ two small spots lower front, else fine. #25455, $175.00

The Japanese made the fourth attempt to climb Dhaulagiri IV. This expedition was abandoned when one member died from pulmonary edema. The peak would not be successfully climbed until 1975, by the Japanese, after 14 lives had been lost over eight attempts. In Japanese with four-page English summary, no English translation. Yak Jk211 (3rd), j263 (2nd ed Yak).

[Japan]. Hara, Makoto & Masao Asami. Makalu 1970: The Untridden Ridge in the Distance. 1972 Meikei-dō, Tokyo, 1st, 8vo, pp.64, 24, 404, 116 color & 8 bw photos, 14 figs, 6 charts (1 fldg), graphs, 9 maps (4 color fldg), illus eps, coarse tan cloth; cardboard slipcase edges rubbed, vg+, issued w/o dj, cloth fine. #25456, $195.00

Account of the successful first ascent of Makalu by the SE Ridge which placed two climbers on the summit. This was only the second ascent of Makalu overall. In Japanese with two-page contents, one text page, and 11-page summary in English, no English translation. Yak Jh35 (3rd ed), j385 (2nd ed).

[Japan]. Japan Everest Skiing Expedition. Everest: Yuichiro Miura & Japanese Everest Skiing Expedition. 1970 Bungei-Shunju, Tokyo, 1st, 4to, pp.90 + 16, 88 color (2 fldg) & 35 bw photos, sketch, 2 maps, white cloth; slipcase corners worn, vg+, dj fine, cloth fine. #25698, $255.00

Miura was a member of the 1970 Japanese Ski Expedition and skied down alongside the Geneva Spur from below the South Col. This large-format photo book is a great companion to Miura’s own popular account of his feat. Text and photo captions in Japanese and English. Yak Js21 (2nd ed).

Isenberg, Maurice & Stewart Weaver. Fallen Giants: A History of Himalayan Mountaineering from the Age of Empire to the Age of Extremes. 2008 US, 3rd, 8vo, pp.xii, 579, photo frontis, 64 bw photos, 12 drawings, 7 bw maps, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25851, $349.95 $14.99

The first comprehensive history of Himalayan mountaineering in fifty years. The authors offer detailed, original accounts of the most significant climbs since the 1890s. They discuss the effects of political and social change on the world of mountaineering, and offer a penetrating analysis of a culture that once emphasized teamwork and fellowship among climbers, but now has been eclipsed by a scramble for individual fame and glory. This is a scholarly work which exposes the reader to the amazing stories and sacrifices held within the body of mountaineering literature. Additionally, the historian, scholar, and collector will delight in the unique, in-depth look at the evolution of climbing, and its driving factors, in the Himalaya. With extensive, detailed notes. Winner Best Work of Mountaineering History at the 2008 Banff Mountain Book Festival, winner 2008 National Outdoor Book Award in the History/Biography category, shortlisted for the 2008 Boardman-Tasker Award, and nominated for a 2008 Pulitzer Prize! This book weighs 2.5 pounds.
[Japan]. Japan Manaslu West Wall Expedition. *Manaslu West-Wall, 1971. 1974 The Expedition/Yama-to-Keikokusha, Tokyo, 1, 8vo, pp.42 + 299, 2 color & 76 bw photos + 31 bw portraits, sketches, charts, tables, 5 maps, orange cloth; slipcase spine faded, vg, cloth fine. #25526, $195.-
The official account of the successful Japanese expedition to Manaslu's West Wall in 1971. Tilman considered the West Wall to be “impossible without wings”. The eleven-member team had planned up to eight camp sites but ended up only using five before placing two members on the summit. This was the second ascent of Manaslu, the first ascent having also been done by the Japanese, in 1956. *In Japanese, with 7-page English summary. Yak jN315 (4th), jN212 (3rd), jS67 (2nd).

[Japan]. Komatsu, Yoshio. *Challenge to K2. 1983 Shinchosha, Tokyo, 1, 8vo, pp.119, 69 color & 23 bw photos, color map, photo eps, wraps w/dj; dj fine, internally fine. #25680, $95.- Account of the first ascent of K2's West Ridge in 1981. The Japanese were able to finish off this difficult route first started by Chris Bonington in 1976 and Doug Scott in 1980, placing two members on the summit. This is a good companion book to the Waseda University account. Scarcely, privately published. In Japanese, no English translation. Yak jK322 (3rd ed).

[Japan], Mainichi Newspaper. *Everest. 1970 Mainichi Newspaper, Tokyo, 1, 4to, pp.202, 129 color photos, lg color 360-degree panorama (60° x 10.5°) in back, 1 route drawing, 2 maps, red cloth; cardboard slipcase w/dj, dj near fine, cloth fine. #25907, $345.- A nice, large-format, photo-book on the first Japanese ascent of Everest in 1970, the Japanese Mount Everest Expedition 1970 (JMEE'70). This expedition followed on the heels of two reconnaissance expeditions in the pre and post-monsoon seasons of 1969. A two-pronged attempt was made via both the South-West Face and the South Col routes. A high point of 8,050m was reached on the Face before that attempt was abandoned. Success was finally achieved via the Col route with four climbers reaching the summit - Naomi Uemura and Terao Matsuura on May 11th and Sirdar Chotar Gyaljee and Katsutoshi Hirabayashi on May 12th. This marked the 11th and 12th ascents of Everest. "In Japanese, two-page English summary and all photos with English captions.

[Japan]. Ryoetsu Alpine Club. *Mt McKinley Expedition of the Ryoetsu Alpine Club 1972. 1974 pub?, place?, 1, 8vo, pp.169, 25 color & 27 bw photos, sketches, tables, map, blue cloth; issued w/dj, dj spine faded, else fine. #25390, $175.- This is the official account of the 1972 Ryoetsu Alpine Club's ascent of McKinley. The expedition consisted of five women from the Club who planned to climb the West Rib. It is believed that three of them reached the summit but fell on the descent, their bodies being found by Ray Genet. Included in the text is a copy of a letter from Jim Wickwire to the expedition leader concerning the accident. In Japanese with a 20-page English summary.

[Japan]. Tsukamoto, Keichi. *K2: With My Whole Heart. 1978 Tokyo Newspaper, Tokyo, 1, 8vo, pp.246, 10 color & 35 bw photos, map eps, wraps w/dj; dj fine, wraps fine. #25462, $95.- A personal account of the 1977 Japanese expedition to K2 which made the second ascent. This large, 50-person expedition made three attempts before finally placing seven climbers on the summit over the course of two consecutive days. There were seven books published about this expedition. Yak jT117 (3rd), jS30 (2nd).

Don't see what you want? Call with your 'want' list!
Lacedelli, Lino & Giovanni Cenacchi. K2: The Price of Conquest. 2006 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.127, 21 color & 28 bw photos, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #24341. $29.95

In the 50 years since the Italian ascent of K2, Lino Lacedelli has never released a statement regarding the summit climb he made with Achille Compagnoni, an event which was celebrated in Italy with great pride. However, when the team, led by Ardito Desio, returned home a terrible accusation was leveled at them. One of the members, Walter Bonatti, said the two summit climbers had put his life in danger by abandoning him before the final stretch so they could reach the top without him. The official version of the climb, written by Desio and confirmed by all other members of the expedition, said that hadn’t happened, that Bonatti’s accusations were unfounded, the result of a misunderstanding. Lacedelli has never felt the necessity to correct the inaccuracies written about the expedition, nor has he replied to the accusations that have often been made. Now Lacedelli reveals previously unknown aspects of that extraordinary climb and offers his own view of the Bonatti affair, an affair which has accounted for many pages in books and newspapers over the last fifty years, as well as keeping the courts busy. Bonatti and the Hunza porter Mahdi risked their lives to carry oxygen bottles which Lacedelli and Compagnoni needed the next day for the final ascent. When, as evening approached, they could not find the summit pair’s tent in the previously agreed place, Bonatti and Mahdi were forced to spend a terrible night above 8000 metres, with neither adequate shelter nor equipment. Why was Camp IX moved? Why did the oxygen run out before the summit was reached? Why was Bonatti subsequently accused of having secretly conspired against his colleagues? To these and other questions Lacedelli responds with authority, throwing new light on the story of an expedition which has become a defining moment in post-war Italian history. He reveals his own terrible version of the truth: in the night before the summit attempt, he and Compagnoni deliberately failed to make their rendezvous with Bonatti, forcing him to abandon the final ascent so they could have the oxygen tanks he carried with him. The book succeeds in restoring to its place in the history of Italian mountaineering an expedition whose story has more often seemed to read like a cheap thriller than one of adventure and discovery. It uncovers personalities previously confined to the shadows, forgotten and erased incidents, and the intense emotions which accompany all difficult challenges. This is a story of courage and ambition, of glory and guilt, of more than 50 years of hiding the truth that became Lino Lacedelli’s ‘Price of Conquest’. This English translation has many more photos than the original Italian edition. This UK hardcover edition is a much nicer copy than the US softcover edition which is slightly smaller due to being a different binding. This is one of only 472 hardcover copies printed!

Lewis-Jones, Huw. Mountain Heroes: Portraits of Adventure. 2011 UK, 1st, 4to, pp.288, photo frontis, 95 color & 81 bw photos, black cloth; dj & cloth new. #25960. $59.95

A beautiful, large-format, photo book featuring 100 portraits and biographies of famous mountaineers. Included are Band, Boardman, Bonington, Bruce, Buhl, Chouinard, Conway, Diemberger, Hill, Hornbein, Kogan, Lowe, Messner, Noyce, Shipton, Somervell, Whillans, Whymper, and many more. With a foreword written by Sir Chris Bonington, two essays examining mountain photography: ‘then’ and ‘now’ by Lewis-Jones, Gordon Wiltsie, Glen Denny, and Cory Richards; and an afterward by Doug Scott. This is a companion volume to ‘Face To Face: Polar Portraits’ (#25707). This lavishly-illustrated book weighs 3.75 pounds.

Lim, David. Against Giants: The Life and Clirms of a Disabled Mountaineer. 2007 Singapore, 2nd, 8vo, pp.xii, 164, 45 color & 31 bw photos, 3 maps, appendix, wraps; signed, new. #23045. $29.95

McDonald, Bernadette. Brotherhood of the Rope: The Biography of Charles Houston. 2007 US, 1st, Special Edition Hardcover, 8vo, pp.250, photo frontis, 54 bw photos, pictorial cloth; signed by Charles Houston, issued w/o dj, cloth new plus 43 minute DVD. #24635. $125.-

This was a long-overdue book on one of America’s great mountain heroes. Charlie Houston led an amazingly full life - mountaineer, high-altitude physiologist, family doctor, educator, mentor, and more. Through extensive interviews and research, McDonald traces Houston’s life and career. His early climbs in the Alps, on Mount Crillon, Foraker, and Nanda Devi were the basis for his ground-breaking attempts on K2 in 1938 and 1953. The expedition’s decision-making in 1953 has set the standard for ‘brotherhood’ in the mountains and is itself a classic story. Houston’s groundbreaking medical experiments on altitude and the human body helped calibrate the nation’s WWII air-assault strategy and shorten the war. This is the man personally recruited by Sergeant Shriver to lead the first Peace Corps programs in India; the friend who Bill Moyers credits with saving his life; the physician who built some of the first artificial-heart prototypes in his garage. With an introduction by Tom Hornbein. Included with this Special Edition hardcover is a DVD documentary with historical footage of the 1953 expedition to K2.

Mallalieu, Peter. The Artists of the Alpine Club: A Biographical Dictionary. 2011 UK, New ed w/ Addendum, oblong 8vo, pp.xii, 240, color frontis, 86 color & 9 bw illus, appendices, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25952. $49.95

Since its foundation in 1857, there have always been members of the Alpine Club who have carried sketch-books into the mountains, keeping a record of their endeavours and the peaks they had climbed. Descriptions of these artists form the principal part of the text of this Dictionary, together with many illustrations of their work.

In 1895, the Alpine Club’s move to Savile Row, with its generous accommodation, enabled exhibitions of scale and scope to be held and the beginnings of a collection to form. In 1991, the move was made to the present premises at Charlotte Road. Throughout these many changes the Club’s collection has grown, almost exclusively by virtue of gifts from members, families and friends. In 1895, the Club’s collection consisted of 692 paintings and drawings and over 600 photographs. As at the end of 2007, the Club’s collection consists of more than 9500 items of material, this being a permanent collection, including works by John Ruskin, ET Compton and TH Somervell, there have been individual shows by modern artists such as Julian Cooper, Jim Curran and John Dugger, and even group exhibitions of conceptual art. Members have been offered a changing and varied diet which is reflected in the pages of this book. This is the second edition which now includes an Addendum showing new material added to the collection. This edition, compiled and written by Peter Mallalieu, Keeper of Pictures at the Alpine Club, shows accompanying descriptions and background to the 114 artists represented.
Caroline Face of Aoraki/Mt Cook. Winter first ascents include the South Face of Nanga Parbat, in 1971. This was Messner's third book, first published in 1972. In German, no English translation.

— Bergvöker: Bilder und Begegnungen [Mountain People: Images and Encounters]. 2001 BLV, München, 1st, 4to, pp. 225, photo fronts, 265 color & 6 bw photos, 5 maps, photo eps, pictorial boards; signed, issued w/o dj, cloth new. #25587, $75. - A sumptuous book documenting mountain people around the world in Europe, Asia, South America, Africa, and Oceania. In German, no English translation.

— Der 7. Grad: Extremstes Bergsteigen (The Seventh Grade: Extreme Mountain Climbing). 1973 BLV, München, 1st, 8vo, pp.156, 4 color & 18 bw photos, map, wraps; signed, near fine. #25900, $65. - This is Messner's fifth book and the first with accounts of his early Alpine climbs and training. He advocated the Seventh grade as a natural extension of the Sixth, which used to be the absolute limit of potential climbing. This was published in English in 1974 as 'The Seventh Grade'. In German. Neate M90.

— Die Großen Wände [The Great Walls]. 1977 BLV, München, 1st, 4to, pp.323, photo fronts, 60 color & 215 bw photos, 5 maps, photo eps, blue cloth; signed, dj w/edge wear, vg, cloth fine. #25906, $45. - In 1980 Messner made the first solo, oxygen-less ascent of Everest, via the North Col route; a tremendous feat. This was published in English in 1989 as 'The Crystal Horizon'. In German. SB M27.

— Die Zukunft der Alpen [The Future of the Alps]. 2007 Tappeiner, Lana, 1st, 4to, pp.263, 7 color gatefolds, 214 color photos, 4 color & 3 bw illus, photo ep, black cloth; signed, dj & cloth new. #25908, $75. - Messner provides a richly-illustrated photo essay on the beauty of the Alps. In German, no English translation.

— Everest: Expedition to the Ultimate. 1979 Kaye & Ward, London, 1st, 8vo, pp.254, 37 color & 42 bw photos, 6 maps, photo eps, orange cloth; signed, dj spine lightly faded, vg+, cloth fine. #20462, $125. - Account of the 1978 first ascent of Everest without supplemental oxygen, with Peter Habeler, a tremendous achievement. Neate M88, SB M26, Yak M169.

— K2: Berg der Berge [K2: Mountain of Mountains]. 1980 BLV, München, 1st, 4to, pp.177, photo fronts, 150 color & 31 bw photos, 9 maps/sketches, photo eps, blue cloth; signed, dj fine, cloth fine. #22956, $95. - A harder book to find, in English, on Messner's K2 ascent. Includes a history of attempts and ascents and is chock-full of pictures. This is the German language edition of 'K2: Mountain of Mountains' published in English in 1981. See Neate M89, Yak M171.
— K2: Mountain of Mountains. 1981 Kaye & Ward, London, 1st, 4to, pp.175, photo frontis, 150 color & 31 bw photos, 9 maps/sketches, photo eps, brown cloth; signed, dj fine, cloth fine. #21963, $145.- A very hard book to find on Messner’s K2 ascent. Includes a history of attempts and ascents and is chock-full of pictures. Neate M98, Yak M171.

— Siebter Grad [Seventh Grade]. 1981 BLV, Munich, new ed, 8vo, pp.208, photo frontis, 17 color & 27 bw photos, pictorial cloth; signed, cloth fine. #25909, $65.- This is Messner’s fifth book and the first with accounts of his early Alpine climbs and training. He advocated the Seventh Grade as a natural extension of the Sixth, which used to be the absolute limit of potential climbing. This new edition has more photos than both the original German and English editions. This was published in English in 1974 as ‘The Seventh Grade’. In German. Neate M90.

— To the Top of the World: Alpine Challenges in the Himalaya and Karakoram. 1992 Mountaineers, Seattle, 1st, 8vo, pp.256, 6 color illus, 72 color & 55 bw photos, 6 paintings, 3 maps, black cloth; signed, dj fine, cloth fine. #9912, $175.- Messner recounts his exploits on Manaslu, Hidden Peak, Everest without oxygen and solo, Nanga Parbat, and K2. Out of print in hardcover and hard to find.

Mitchell, Ian R. & George W. Rodway. Prelude to Everest: Alexander Kellas, Himalayan Mountaineer. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.285, 30 color & 49 bw photos, sketch, 9 tables, 11 figures, 6 maps, appendix, map eps, grey cloth; dj & cloth new. #25846, $39.95 Kellas, who could be considered Scotland’s greatest ever Himalayan mountaineer and one of the foremost in the world during his own lifetime, is today a largely neglected figure. Born in Aberdeen in 1868, there was little in his background or his early life that might have suggested he would become a leading pioneer in the Greater Ranges, exploring and climbing widely in the Sikkim and Garhwal areas, and finally dying on the initial Reconnaissance Expedition to Everest in 1921. This biography restores Kellas to his rightful place in Himalayan mountaineering history; by describing in detail his pioneering work in exploration, his groundbreaking high altitude physiology and detailing his list of Himalayan first ascents. In his day, Kellas had spent more time above 20,000’ feet than anyone and had, unknowingly, established a new summit record when he ascended Pauhunri (23,386’) in 1911, thus eclipsing Tom Longstaff’s ascent of Trisul (23,359’) in 1907.

Mordecai, David. The Himalayas: An Illustrated Summary of the World’s Highest Mountain Ranges. Nd India, reprint, oblong 8vo, [pp.58], 1 color & 55 bw photos (1 fldg), 2 fldg profiles, sketch, charts, illus boards; issued w/o dj, boards new. #24397, $35.95 Mordecai lists 568 peaks over 20,000’, along with their height, location and successful expeditions. This copy is signed by five members of the successful 1965 3rd Indian Everest Expedition. Kohli was the Leader and Kumar Deputy Leader. This was Gombo’s second ascent having previously summited with Jim Whittaker in 1963. A nicely done reprint of the scarce original edition. [Mount Gongga/Minya Konka]. Map of Glaciers of Mount Gongga. 1985 China, 42” x 30”, scale 1:25,000, color, double-sided, folded; new. #25879, $39.95 A very nice, large topographic map of Mount Gongga (or Minya Konka, 24,892’), the highest mountain in Sichuan, China and the third highest outside of the Himalaya/Karakoram. The first ascent was by a small American party in 1932 which is described in Burdsall’s ‘Men Against the Clouds’. This map is a result of a Chinese survey in 1982-83 when 440 square kilometers were mapped.

Norton, Lieutenant-Colonel E. F. The Fight For Everest: 1924. 1995 Cosmo Publications, New Delhi, reprint, 8vo, pp.viii, 372, 16 bw photos, sketch, large fldg map in back, blue cloth; minor corner bumps, this copy missing the photo spread. else dj & cloth new. #21945, $22. - $19. - One of the most amazing stories in mountaineering history! The third British Everest Expedition of 1924 which saw George Mallory and Andrew Irvine heading into the clouds for the top. This is one of the classics of mountaineering literature.

Oelz, Oswald. Mit Eispickel und Stethoskop [With Ice Axe and Stethoscope]. 2000 Germany, 4th, 8vo, pp.272, photo frontis, 16 color & 168 bw photos, map, page ribbon, blue cloth; inscribed, dj fine, cloth fine. #24072, $45-$55.

Oelz has had an extensive mountaineering career. In addition to climbing the Seven Summits, with both Cartec; Pyramidal and Kosciuszko, he has participated in numerous Himalayan expeditions to Manaslu, Makalu, Annapurna, Shisha Pangma, and Cho Oyu. In German, no English translation.

Pritzker, Yury. See It from the Top: How to Climb Everest Without Quitting Your Day Job. 2012 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.210, 41 bw photos, wraps; signed, new. #25969, $14.99 Pritzker summited Everest in 2009 via the South East Ridge as a member of the Eco Everest Expedition 2009 led by Asian Trekking. Prior to this expedition he had trips to his native Caucasus, the Cascades, Grand Teton, Rainier, Peru, Mount Hunter, Mount Shasta, Denali, the Alps, and other peaks. Pritzker describes his 2007 expedition to Denali and then presents a detailed account of both his preparations for and experiences on Everest. This is an excellent reference for anyone training for or preparing to go on an Everest expedition.

Ridgeway, Rick. The Last Step: The American Ascent of K2. 1980 Mountaineers, Seattle, 1st, 8vo, pp.vii, 301, 75 color photos, 2 maps, black cloth; signed by 7 - Louis Reichardt, Rick Ridgeway, Diane Roberts, John Roskelley, Nazir Sabir, Jim Whittaker, Jim Wickwire, dj w/light wear, 1” tear on bottom edge of cover, near fine, cloth fine. #20209, $95. - The successful 1978 American expedition placed the first four Americans (Louis Reichardt, Rick Ridgeway, John Roskelley, and Jim Wickwire) on top of K2, the world’s second highest mountain and arguably the most difficult. Three of the team reached the summit without the use of supplemental oxygen. This particular copy is signed by all four summeters, expedition leader Whittaker; and two other team members. This is a great story. Neate R33, Yak R110.

Sale, Richard. Broad Peak. 2004 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.208, 48 color & 18 bw photos, sketch, appendix, blue cloth; signed, dj & cloth new. #23598, $49.- The first full account of the first ascent of Broad Peak in 1957 by Marcus Schumck, Fritz; Wintersteller, Hermann Buhl and Kurt Diemberger. Sale drew upon the climbing diaries of Schmuck and Wintersteller; accounts written by Buhl, and conversations with Diemberger and Qader Saeed, the expedition’s Pakistani liaison officer. None of this material has previously been published. Sale begins with a history of Broad Peak, including the first ever drawing of the mountain (from Conway’s expedition of 1892), the first ever photograph (from the Eckenstein expedition of 1902) and Sella’s panorama from the Abruzzi expedition of 1909. There is also an account of the first attempt by the Herrligkoffer expedition of 1954. The photos from the 1957 expedition are almost entirely previously unpublished work of Schmuck and Wintersteller. Additionally, there is an account of Buhl’s last climb and death on Chogolisa from the protocol written by the surviving team members on the day Diemberger returned to Base Camp after the accident. The book ends with an Appendix of all summit climbs from 1957-2004. Broad Peak is long overdue for an english-language account of this important first ascent of an 8000m peak by a very small team. Shortlisted for the 2005 Boardman-Tasker award and Finalist 2005 Banff Mountain Book Festival Best Book Mountain Literature.

— The Challenge of K2: A History of the Savage Mountain. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.xi, 227, 32 color & 22 bw photos, 2 tables, appendices, black cloth; signed, dj & cloth new. #25848, $39.95 K2 is one of the most demanding mountaineering challenges in the world and one of the most treacherous. Extreme, unpredictable weather and the acutely difficult climbing conditions test the technique, endurance and psychological Order via Phone, Fax, or On-line.

Scans of any Item are available upon request.

Top of the World Books
182 Orchard Commons Rd
Hinesburg VT 05461-8999 USA
1st scenic and historical books
802-482-7287   Fax: 802-482-5050
Email: greg@topworldbooks.com
www.topworldbooks.com
A comprehensive statistical analysis of climbing activity, ascents and fatalities in the Nepal Himalaya covering three periods of climbing - 1950-1969 (the expeditionary period), 1970-1989 (the transitional period), and 1990-2009 (the commercial period). An extensive amount of data is analyzed in several categories including climbing season, expedition years (changes over time), geographical regions of Nepal, age groups, gender, citizenship, and team size and composition. In addition, fatalities are analyzed for both members and hired personnel by causes of death with special emphasis given to avalanches, falls and physiological factors. Time of day and distance from the summit is also examined for climbing accidents. Special emphasis is given to the most popular commercial peaks - Ama Dablam, Cho Oyu and Everest. Interspersed throughout are stories by Hawley covering particular events during the climbing periods covered. There is much to be learned in this book for anyone interested in the high Himalaya! This hardcover edition has been printed in a limited edition of only 200 copies.

Sundance, Pauline. The World’s Longest Climb: Dead Sea to Everest Summit. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.244, photo frontis, 200 color & 4 bw photos, sketch, photo eps, wraps; new.

Sunderson, William. In the High Himalaya! This hardcover edition has been printed in a limited edition of only 200 copies.

Top of the World Books
Email: greg@topworldbooks.com
182 Orchard Commons Rd
Hinesburg VT 05461-8999 USA
Phone: 802-482-7287 Fax: 802-482-5050
Mallory was obsessed with becoming the first person to conquer the Mount Everest. He was last seen 800 feet below the summit in 1924, before the clouds rolled in and he disappeared into legend. His death stunned the world. Seventy-five years later, climber Conrad Anker’s life became intertwined with Mallory’s after finding his frozen body with all his belongings intact. The only thing missing was a photograph of his wife, Ruth, which Mallory had promised to place on the summit. Haunted by Mallory’s story, Conrad Anker returned to Everest, as leader of the 2007 Altitude Everest Expedition, as he along with British climbing prodigy Leo Houlding tried to unravel the mysteries surrounding Mallory’s disappearance.

---

Everest DVDs

Antarctica Calendar 2012. 13¼” wide x 18½” high when opened, 24 color images, 12 months; new. #25883, $19.95

This is one of our favorite calendars! Here is a stunning collection of color images from the frozen south – Adelie and Gentoo penguins, icebergs, Antarctica Peninsula, and more!

Aston, Felicity. Call of the White: Taking the World to the South Pole. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.317, 16 color photos, wraps; new. #25838, $24.95

Could you ski to the South Pole? That was the challenge that British adventurer, Felicity Aston put to women from around the Commonwealth, as she set out to create the most international all-female expedition ever to the Pole. The team would not be experienced explorers but ‘ordinary’ women who wanted to inspire others to follow their dreams or make a change for the better in their lives. She received more than 800 applications and embarked on a three-month journey around the world to interview candidates. ‘What is skiing?’ asked someone in Ghana.

At the close of 2009, Felicity led a team from places as diverse as Jamaica, India, Singapore and Cyprus - some of whom had never even seen snow or spent the night in a tent before joining the expedition - on a 900-km skiing trek across the Antarctic, one of the toughest and most notoriously hazardous journeys on the planet. Eighty-mile-an-hour winds ripped through base camp, frostbite and injuries were an everyday occurrence, and deadly crevasses emerged from the cracking ice beneath their feet. But they also shared beliefs, ideas, philosophies and laughter, made lasting memories and broke no less than six World Records.

Battersby, William. James Fitzjames: The Mystery Man of the Franklin Expedition. 2010 Canada, 1st, 8vo, pp.224, 33 bw photos, 2 tables, 6 maps, appendices, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25885, $34.95

James Fitzjames was a hero of the early nineteenth-century Royal Navy. A charismatic man with a wicked sense of humour, he pursued his naval career with wily determination. When he joined the Franklin Expedition at the age of 32 he thought he would make his name. But instead the expedition completely disappeared and he never returned. Its fate is one of history’s last great unsolved mysteries, as were the origins and background of James Fitzjames - until now.

Fitzjames packed a great deal into his thirty-two years. He had sailed an iron paddle steamer down the River Euphrates and fought with spectacular bravery in wars in Syria and China. But Fitzjames was not what he seemed. He concealed several secrets, including the scandal of his birth, the source of his influence and his plans for after the Franklin Expedition. In this first complete biography of the captain of the HMS Erebus, Battersby draws extensively on

---

Polar Regions

Wiesnner, Fritz. K2: Tragödien und Sieg am Zweithöchsten Berg der Erde. 1955 Rother, München, 1st, 8vo, pp.54, [18], 19 bw photos, 2 maps, wraps w/ dj; dj w/ edge wear & several small fold lines, vg, wraps fine. #24359, $350.

Wiesnner led the second American K2 expedition in 1939. The deaths of four members and lack of information concerning events led to much criticism. His only accounts in English were a brief article in the AAJ and then a later article in Appalachia which was extracted from this book. The copyright page states 1st -3 edition which is the only way I have seen this in other copies. In German, no English translation. Quite scarce.

---

Top of the World Books

Greg@topworldbooks.com

182 Orchard Commons Rd

Hinesburg VT 05461-8999 USA

Phone: 802-482-7287 Fax: 802-482-5050

Top of the World Books

www.topworldbooks.com
Antarctica is surrounded by some of the world’s most hazardous seas and was first sighted less than three centuries ago. Since then, ships have been of vital importance in Antarctic exploration. Expeditions were challenged by poorly-charted waters, violent storms, pack ice and icebergs, and disease. Frequently, the success of expeditions was determined by the qualities of the ships involved. The pivotal importance of ships and ship design has been largely ignored by Antarctic literature. This is the story of these ships – some specially designed, some plucked from obscurity – and the critical role they played in opening up the continent, from the hypothetical earliest sightings by fleets of the Ming emperors of China in the 15th century to the tourist ships and sophisticated reinforced research vessels of today. Using extensive research in archives, museums, libraries and private sources around the world, Bryan brings the detailed information about the ships into a single, comprehensive record. It contains technical information, plans, photos, paintings and maps, and describes the expeditions and exploratory activities in which the ships took part. This authoritative work fills an important gap in Antarctic literature and is destined to become the reference book on ships of the Antarctic. This book weighs four pounds.

Branagan, David. T. W. Edgworth David: A Life - Geologist, Adventurer, Soldier and “Knight in the Old Brown Hat”. 2005 Australia, 1st, thick 8vo, pp.xix, 648, 87 bw photos, 25 sketches, 7 maps, appendices, map eps; wraps; new. #25956, $45.95

This comprehensive biography evokes the life and achievements of Edgworth David (1858-1934): celebrated geologist, Antarctic pioneer, co-founder of the Australian Tunnelling Corps in World War One, tireless campaigner for Australian and international science, inveterate congress organiser, mesmerising lecturer; and, with his formidable wife Cara, prominent Sydney social identity in the early decades of the twentieth century. David was a member of Shackleton’s British Antarctic Expedition 1907-09, initially intending to stay for only half of the expedition. However, he decided to stay on and ended up leading the first ascent of Mount Erebus, with Douglas Mawson and Alistair Mackay, as well as the South Magnetic Pole party, again with Mawson and Mackay. Mawson was a former student of David’s. Later, David would assist with the follow-on Scott, Mawson, Shirase, and Shackleton expeditions. This intensively researched work by Dr David Branagan, featuring a striking array of photographs, provides a timely reappraisal of this great and today strangely neglected Australian.

Bryan, Rorke. Ordeal by Ice: Ships of the Antarctic. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.vii, 536, color frontis, 82 color & 102 bw photos, 8 color & 5 bw illus, 85 plans, 21 color maps, appendices, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25839, $69.95

Antarctica is surrounded by some of the world’s most hazardous seas and was first sighted less than three centuries ago. Since then, ships have been of vital importance in Antarctic exploration. Expeditions were challenged by poorly-charted waters, violent storms, pack ice and icebergs, and disease. Frequently, the success of expeditions was determined by the qualities of the ships involved. This authoritative work fills an important gap in Antarctic literature and is destined to become the reference book on ships of the Antarctic. This book weighs four pounds.

Charcot, Jean-Baptiste. The French Antarctic Expedition 1903-1905. 2004 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.lxiv, 247, photo frontis, 273 bw photos, plan, drawing, 6 maps, appendix, illus blue-green cloth; issued w/o dj; cloth new. #23555, $89.95

The First English translation of Charcot’s first expedition narrative “Le ‘Francais’ au Pole Sud: Journal de l’Expédition Antarctique Francaise, 1903-05”. Charcot originally intended to head north, but upon hearing there was no word from Nordenskjold and his ship ‘Antarctic’ Charcot turned his attention to the south. Although Nordenskjold returned before Charcot could begin his search, his time was well spent. Despite running aground and nearly sinking, the expedition discovered 620 miles of new coastline, conducted extensive scientific research, and took thousands of photos. A most important work of Antarctic exploration and long overdue for a translation. See Rosove 60 for the original French edition.

Cox, Lynne. South with the Sun: Roald Amundsen, His Polar Explorations, and the Quest for Discovery. 2011 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.xvii, 291, 51 bw photos, 3 bw illus, 2 figures, 2 maps, brown cloth; dj & cloth new. #25873, $25.95

Cox presents the life and expeditions, both in the Arctic and Antarctic, of Roald Amundsen together with accounts of her swimming the frigid Antarctic waters in Amundsen’s wake a century later.
After becoming shipwrecked the crew sought refuge on an ice floe and drifted down the Arctic Ocean for two months and nearly 800 miles.}

Dahl, Kai R. The “Teddy” Expedition: Among the Ice Floes of Greenland. 1925 Appleton, NY, 1st, 8vo, pp.xvii, 288, photo frontis, 60 bw photos, blue cloth; cloth spine darkened, near fine. #25860, $25.-

Daly, Regina W. The Shackleton Letters: Behind the Scenes of the Nimrod Expedition. 2009 UK, 1st trade ed, 8vo, pp.viii, 360, 53 bw photos, folding color map in back, appendices, wraps; new. #25893, $29.95

Davis, Pamela B. ‘These Rough Notes’: Scott’s Last Expedition. Nov 1996 Cambridge Review, UK, extract, 4to, pp.11, 3 bw illus; photocopied extract in plastic binding, new. #25912, $5.95

Debenham, Frank. In the Antarctic: Stories of Scott’s Last Expedition. 1998 Erskine, Norfolk, 1st thru, 8vo, pp.146, many illus, illus eps, blue cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth new. #14474, $49.-

Doorly, Gerald S. The Voyages of the ‘Morning’. 1995 Bluntisham/Erskine, Norfolk, 1st thru, facs ed, 8vo, pp.xxiv, 224, frontis, 21 bw photos, map, dec blue cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth new. #14477, $79.-

Ennis, Helen. Frank Hurley’s Antarctica. 2010 Australia, 1st, small 8vo, pp.141, 68 bw photos, pictorial cloth; dj & cloth new. #25957, $29.95

Frank Hurley is best known for his stunning Antarctic photographs. Ennis discusses some of his most famous images and the conditions in which they were taken. Sprinkled throughout the book are images of typescripts from Hurley’s diaries written during both Mawson’s Australasian Antarctic Expedition (1911-14) and Shackleton’s Imperial Trans-Antarctic Expedition (1914-17), his words describing the landscape with an artist’s eye. For Hurley, image-making and exploration went hand in hand and he sought out excluded experiences, through physical struggle, through relationships with the natural world and through story telling. This book brings to life his passion for photography and for making art, and his own spirit of survival.

Feeney, Robert E. Polar Journeys: The Role of Food and Nutrition in Early Exploration. 1997 US, 1st thru, 8vo, pp.xxiv, 279, map frontis, 48 bw illus, 22 tables, 2 maps, appendices wraps; fine. #17178, $27.95+$9.95

With extensive quotes from explorers’ journals, historical menus, tables, and numerous illustrations, Feeney presents a vivid description of what polar expeditions experienced, making a powerful case that the explorers not only traveled on their stomachs, they lived and died by the quantity/quality of their food.

Filchner, Wilhelm. To The Sixth Continent: The Second German South Polar Expedition 1911-1913. 1994 Bluntisham, Huntingdon, 1st in Eng, ltd ed 400, 4to, pp.42, viii, 253, photo frontis, 53 plates, 37 illus, 6 maps, appendices, blue cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth rubbed else new. #14479, $125.-

Filchner’s expedition plan to cross the polar ice from the Weddell Sea to the Ross Sea came to an abrupt end when the ice broke up under their base and they were forced to winter over aboard ship. This is the first English translation of Filchner’s expedition narrative, edited by noted polar historian Prof. William Barr. This translation also includes Filchner’s ‘Exposé’, published in 1956, which sheds further light on the interpersonal frictions within the party. Now out of print. See Spence 457.

Gerlache, Adrien de. Voyage of the Belgica: Fifteen Months in the Antarctic. 1998 UK, 1st English, ltd ed 700, 4to, pp.xxii, 100, 2 photo fronts, 97 bw illus, 4 figs, 4 maps, appendices, gilt dec green cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth new. #15876, $89.-

The first English translation of Gerlache’s 1902 narrative. Until now the only English-language account of the Belgian Antarctic Expedition (1897-99) was Cook’s. The “Belgica” expedition was the first international scientific expedition to the Antarctic. They suffered a number of hardships from mental breakdowns to illness and communication. “Belgica” was trapped in the ice and drifted for 13 months becoming the first to endure the Antarctic winter. Rosove 150.

Haddelsey, Stephen. Ice Captain: The Life of J. R. Stenhouse. 2008 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.xvi, 238, 21 bw photos, 5 maps, black cloth; dj & cloth new. #25087, $41.95

Henson, Matthew A. Matthew A. Henson’s Historic Arctic Journey: The Classic Account of One of the World’s Greatest Black Explorers. 2009 US, 1st thru, small 8vo, pp.232, 12 bw photos, black cloth; dj & cloth new. #25256, $49.95+$9.95

This is a 100th Anniversary reprinting of Henson’s scarce book ‘A Negro Explorer at the North Pole’ which relates his account of reaching the North Pole with Admiral Peary in 1909.

Herbert, Kari & Huw Lewis-Jones. In Search of the South Pole. 2011 UK, 1st, 4to, pp.192, photo frontis, 46 color & 65 bw photos, 29 color & 2 bw illus, 6 maps, illus eps, pictorial cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth new. #25923, $29.95

On the Centenary of the Amundsen-Scott race to the South Pole, this book traces our search for the Pole, from the earliest encounters with Antarctica’s icy waters, through the Heroic Age to modern times. In addition to the words of Scott and Amundsen, vivid descriptions from the logbooks, journals and narratives of pioneers such as Carsten Borchgrevink, Ernest Shackleton and Douglas Mawson provide first-hand experiences of this enigmatic and unforgiving region. In our own times, there is commentary from modern explorers and travellers, writers and scientists, who explain what the South Pole means to them. Among those featured are Edmund Hillary, Vivian Fuchs, Ranulph Fiennes and Borge Ousland. Stunning images by Herbert Ponting and Frank Hurley, and from the personal collections of explorers and adventure photographers, as well as contemporary ephemera and artefacts illustrate the hardships of life on the ice. Herbert is the daughter of the great polar explorer Sir Wally Herbert and Lewis-Jones is former Curator at the Scott Polar Research Institute. A nicely illustrated book.

Many more items on-line at www.topworldbooks.com!
Herbert, Wally & Kari Herbert. The Polar World: The Unique Vision of Sir Wally Herbert. 2007 UK, 1st, oblong 4to, pp.128, frontis, 47 watercolor & 18 oil paintings, 4 pen & ink & 13 pencil & scalpel drawings, 7 maps, grey cloth; dj & cloth new. #25948, $69.95

Sir Wally Herbert was a bridge between the Heroic Age of polar exploration and modern adventure, a visionary who walked in the footsteps of all the great explorers, and learned the art of survival from the Inuit. During his 50 years as an explorer he retraced the routes of most of the pioneers both in the Arctic and Antarctic, knowing many of them as personal friends. His single greatest achievement was leading the 1968-69 British Trans-Arctic Expedition which made the first surface crossing of the Arctic Ocean, a 15-month, 3800-mile journey from Alaska to Spitsbergen. Herbert was also a gifted artist whose exquisite work is shown here in this marvelous book depicting not only his expeditions but many aspects of the polar world.

Hibbert, Alex. The Long Haul. 2009 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.vi, 219, 27 color & 1 bw photos, 3 maps, wraps; corners bumped from shipping, else new. #25840, $21.95

On July 16, 2008, Alex Hibbert and George Bullard reached the Arctic coast of Greenland. Starved and dizzy, they had man-hauled 430lb sledges for eighteen weeks across 1374 miles in unbroken steps, further than any previous unsupported polar expedition in history. This is Alex's story of mental perseverance, physical toll in brutal conditions and teamwork under pressure. The pair were forced to ski in darkness, where temperatures plummeted to minus forty and winds reached gale-force. As an isolated double act, Hibbert and Bullard had to rely on each other for their survival and even their own sanity. The journey required meticulous planning, intense training and no small measure of luck to succeed. Many thought Hibbert's plan impossible. Ever conscious of those pioneers who preceded him, Hibbert explains the expedition's place in polar history and describes the lesser known realities of expedition life. His account is filled with stark recollections of adrenaline and reflection in the face of enormous odds stacked against them.

Hirzel, David. Sailor on Ice: Tom Crean - With Scott in the Antarctic 1910-1913. 2011 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.279, map, appendices, wraps; new. #25688, $18.50

There are more famous names than Tom Crean's from the “heroic age” of Antarctic exploration, but there are few stories as compelling as his. The Antarctic is a harsh place of bitter cold and darkness, where only the strong and resourceful can hope to survive. Crean was such a man. Time and again he was one of, at times the only one, whose courage in the face of insurmountable odds saved the lives of his companions. Had he weakened and failed the lives of all might well have been lost, and their stories remained untold. He left no diary or book; his few letters speak modestly of his exploits, if at all. Sailor on Ice tells the story of a common man in uncommon circumstances, who met every challenge as it came with steadfast purpose. If he knew fear, he never showed it. This book goes with him from England to the Antarctic plateau, and back. We share his trials as they happen - the thrill of discovery, the danger of the sea-ice, the terror of extreme isolation, the tragedy of the deaths of his closest friends. His story is not one of trial and privation leading to a tragic end, because without one man’s endurance and unflinching resolve in the face of hopeless adversity, there would be no survivors. The familiar names belong to those who claimed to lead, but those who lead are nothing without those who come a few steps behind, hauling the gear, pitching the camp, walking the long walk, steadfast, enduring. Without them, there would be no leaders. There would be no survivors, and no story to be told.

Jones, Aubrey. Scott’s Forgotten Surgeon: Dr. Reginald Koettlitz, Polar Explorer. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.xiv, 209, 47 bw photos, illus, 5 maps, appendices, wraps; new. #25661, $37.95

Koettlitz, a British physician, was a member of the Jackson-Harmsworth Expedition (1894-97) to Franz Josef Land serving as both physician and geologist. During this expedition he fine-tuned his measures to prevent scurvy, became an experienced ski runner, dog and pony handler, and expert in polar survival. He then joined the Herbert Weld Blundell Expedition to North East Africa (1898-99) as surgeon, geologist, anthropologist, and field manager. Following this expedition, Koettlitz turned his sights south once again and joined Scott’s National Antarctic Expedition (1901-04). He was senior surgeon and botanist/bacteriologist for this expedition and was later awarded a medal by the Royal Geographical Society for his work. He is also credited with taking the first color photographs on the Antarctic continent. Unfortunately, these have been lost to history. This well-researched account is enriched with previously unseen archive material such as correspondence with Nansen and photographs relating to polar history during the period 1890-1916.

Roberts developed an interest in polar matters at an early age and went on to have a career in both Arctic and Antarctic exploration. He organized and led the Cambridge University Expedition to Vatnajokull in Iceland (1932) and the Cambridge University Expedition to Scoresby Sound in East Greenland (1933). He then joined the British Graham Land Expedition, 1934-1937, as an ornithologist and was later involved in drafting the Antarctic Treaty of 1959. In 1961 he became the official UK observer for the US Naval ‘Operation Deep-Freeze’. This is a collection of reminiscences by 35 of Roberts’ contemporaries.

Kohler-Larsen, Ludwig. South Georgia: Gateway to Antarctica. 2003 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.xviii, 294, photo frontis, 38 bw photos, 3 maps (1 color fldg), appendix, pale green cloth; dj & cloth new. #22749, $45.00

The first English translation of an account of an expedition to South Georgia in 1927-28. The author, together with his wife and a camera-man, explored both the south coast and the little-known interior of the island. They collected many scientific specimens for German museums and made the first film of the island's wildlife and work of the whalers. Translated by William Barr.

McCrum, Mark. Walking with the Wounded. 2011 UK, rep, 8vo, pp.viii, 307, 35 color photos, map eps, red cloth; dj & cloth new. #25962, $35.95

In April 2011, four British soldiers — each a hero of recent conflicts who suffered devastating injuries in the line of duty — set out on a two-hundred mile trek, unsupported, to the North Pole. It was the culmination of a journey that began long before, when two friends decided to mount an expedition that would demonstrate how remarkable our armed forces are and raise funds for the rehabilitation of injured service men and women. Little did they know their idea would ultimately gain global attention, and royal endorsement. The year-long selection process was more physically and emotionally draining than anyone had anticipated. By September 2010 the final team was set: the two founders, four wounded soldiers, a polar guide, and prince Prince Harry. Once they’d ventured inside the Arctic Circle they had to contend with new challenges. Pulling sleds weighing more than 100kg over vast swathes of ice rubble, pressure ridges and dangerous open water leads; constant daylight; ground that could literally tear itself apart beneath them as they slept; and temperatures as low as -35 degrees. And all the time, they had to be alert for signs of the notoriously aggressive polar bears that roam the desolate landscape. With every step fraught with risk, the trek tested its participants’ resilience to the limit. Each of these brave men tells their story here, along with that of the extraordinary expedition itself – the rigorous training, the meticulous preparation, and of course, the final, awe-inspiring journey across the ice. A remarkable and moving story. For 2012 the team has set it’s sights on Everest.

Murphy, David. The Arctic Fox: Francis Leopold McClintock – Discoverer of the Fate of Franklin. 2004 Dundurn Press, Toronto, 1st, 8vo, pp.xiii, 201, frontis, 29 bw photos/illus, 2 maps, black cloth; dj & cloth new. #25826, $22.95

The Shackleton of his day, Leopold McClintock (1819-1907), was one of the best-known Arctic explorers of the Victorian era. He successfully undertook four major voyages of discovery as well as epic sledge journeys and was the first explorer to bring back definitive information on the lost Franklin party. In 1884 he rose to the position of Admiral and was consulted by Scott before he undertook his Discovery expedition in 1901.

Murphy, David Thomas. German Exploration of the Polar World: A History, 1870-1940. 2002 US, 1st, 8vo, pp.x, 273, 30 bw photos, 3 maps, black cloth; dj & cloth new. #25831, $49.95

The exciting story of the generations of German polar explorers who braved the perils of the Arctic and Antarctic for themselves and their country. Such intrepid adventurers as Wilhelm Filchner, Erich von Drygalski, and Alfred Wegener are not as well known today as Robert Falcon Scott, Roald Amundsen, Ernest Shackleton, Robert E. Peary, or Richard E. Byrd, but their bravery and the Richard was a member of the Shackleton's Imperial Trans-Antarctic Expedition 1914-17 which saw the dramatic loss of the 'Endurance'. Had Shackleton been successful in crossing the Antarctic continent they would have met up with the Ross Sea Shore Party whose duty it was to lay depots in anticipation of the crossing. Richards was a member of this Party which encountered many difficulties and is an inspiring story on its own. With their ship 'Aurora' ripped from its moorings, along with most of their supplies, ten men scavenged equipment and food and set out to set the depots for men who would never come. This is one of the few accounts regarding this part of Shackleton's expedition. This is a nice reprint of this scarce volume. See Spec 696.

Riffenburgh, Beau. Aurora: Douglas Mawson and The Australasian Antarctic Expedition 1911-14. 2011 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.525, photo frontis, 71 bw photos, 2 sketches, 2 diagrams, 8 maps (1 fldg), appendix, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25669, $74.95

In 1911 Douglas Mawson organised and led the Australasian Antarctic Expedition (AAE) - a scientific investigation of the Antarctic on a scale never before considered. At the same time it was responsible for the exploration of vastly more territory than any other Antarctic expedition. It consisted of three land bases operated by 32 men, seven major sledging journeys (as well as numerous shorter ones), and a full oceanographic program in addition to its shore-based scientific studies. Yet what was intended by Mawson to be a scientific exercise devoid of heroic adventure, also proved to be a tale of death, determination, and raw courage. This is the first examination of the full expedition since Mawson's 'The Home of the Blizzard' was published in 1915.

—. Douglas Mawson. 2010 SPRi, Cambridge, 1st, small 8vo, pp.32, photo frontis, 37 bw photos, 2 maps, map eps, card covers; new. #25915, $19.95

A smallish, but nicely illustrated, publication from the Scott Polar Research Institute as part of their Polar Profile series. This examines Mawson's life and expeditions, including his incredible tale of death, determination, and courage. This is a companion work to the item below.

—. Roald Amundsen. 2010 SPRi, Cambridge, 1st, small 8vo, pp.32, photo frontis, 10 color & 20 bw photos, map eps, card covers; new #25916, $19.95

A smallish, but nicely illustrated, publication from the Scott Polar Research Institute as part of their Polar Profile series. This overviews the life, expeditions, and remarkable achievements of this accomplished Norwegian explorer. This is a companion work to the item above.

Harrisson (1867-1914) was the only Tasmanian member of Douglas Mawson's legendary Australasian Antarctic Expedition 1911-14. Appointed biologist and artist to the expedition, he was a gifted writer. His diary of December 1911 to March 1913 records the challenges that faced the 8-man Western Base party, led by Frank Wild, which landed on a glacier 2000km west of the Main Base, and their heroic achievements in Queen Mary Land. Transcribed and edited by Rossiter, Harrisson's engaging narrative is complemented by his oil and watercolour paintings, pencil sketches made in the field and many photographs. Harrisson's 240,000 word diary, here edited to 133,000 words, is presented for the first time.
is the first publication of his detailed journal.

...Orde Lees predicted a shortage of food for those who were left on the Island.  With the Endurance in the pack ice and finishing with the last day on Elephant Island.  Thomson, John.  Elephant Island and Beyond: The Life and Diaries of Thomas Orde Lees.  2003 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.viii, 339, photo frontis, 30 bw photos, 8 sketches, 2 maps, grey cloth; dj & cloth new.  #22885, $65.  —A most interesting account of the person generally regarded as the least popular on Shackleton's historic 1914-16 Endurance expedition.  Orde Lees was the motor expert and in charge of stores on board ship.  The diary entries begin here with the Endurance in the pack ice and finish with the last day on Elephant Island.  Orde Lees predicted a shortage of food for those who were left on the Island and it is believed he would have been the first victim of cannibalism.  This is the first publication of his detailed journal.

Stump, Edmund.  The Roof at the Bottom of the World: Discovering the Transantarctic Mountains.  2011 US, 1st, 4to, pp.xxv, 254, photo frontis, 105 color & 1 bw photos, 2 figures, 33 maps, appendices, black cloth; dj & cloth new.  The Transantarctic Mountains are the most remote mountain belt on Earth, an utterly pristine wilderness of ice and rock rising to majestic heights and extending for 1,300 miles.  Stump is the first to show us this continental-scale mountain system in all its stunning beauty and desolation, and the first to provide a comprehensive, fully illustrated history of the region's discovery and exploration.  He not only has conducted extensive research in the Transantarctic Mountains during his forty-year career as a geologist but has also systematically photographed the entire region.  Selecting the best of the best of his more than 8,000 photographs, he presents nothing less than the first atlas of these mountains.  In addition, he examines the original firsthand accounts of the heroic Antarctic explorations of James Clark Ross (who discovered the mountain range in the early 1840s), Robert Falcon Scott, Ernest Shackleton, Roald Amundsen, Richard Byrd, and scientists participating in the International Geophysical Year (1957–1958).  From these records, Stump is able to trace the actual routes of the early explorers with unprecedented accuracy.  With maps old and new, stunning photographs never before published, and tales of intrepid explorers, this book takes the armchair traveler on an expedition to the Antarctic wilderness that few have ever seen.

Swithinbank, Charles.  Foothold on Antarctica: The First International Expedition (1949-1952) Through the Eyes of its Youngest Member.  1999 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.viii, 260, 99 bw photos, 8 maps, black cloth; dj & cloth new.  #25919, $37.95  In 1948 when Charles Swithinbank was still an undergraduate at Oxford, he applied to join the Norwegian-British-Swedish Antarctic Expedition.  A year later, he was the youngest member of the expedition as he set out to spend two years in the splendid isolation of Antarctica.  This is the human story of this great adventure, illustrated with 100 superb black & white photographs.  The author went on to become an eminent glaciologist who has made a score of contributions to science.

Trendall, Alec.  Putting South Georgia on the Map: Duncan Carse's South Georgia Surveys of 1951-56.  2011 Pvt Pub, Australia, Ltd ed 200, 4to, pp.216, frontis sketch, 107 color & 6 bw photos, 2 illus, 9 color maps, appendices, photo eps, pictorial cloth; signed, issued w/o dj, cloth bound from shipping, else new.  #25890, $89.-  The sub-Antarctic island of South Georgia, about 170 kilometres long and up to 30 kilometres wide, lies at the southern end of the Atlantic Ocean, about 2000 kilometres east of Cape Horn.  Its icy mountain spine rises nearly 3000 metres out of the ocean, like a misplaced section of the Alps.  The island lies well within the cold waters bounded by the Antarctic Polar Front, and more than half of its area is permanently covered by ice and snow.  Although South Georgia was visited with increasing frequency after its discovery by Captain Cook in 1775, and was for a long time a busy base for the sealing and whaling industries, a properly surveyed map of the island was not published until 1958.  That map resulted from a series of small privately-organised expeditions – the South Georgia Surveys – initiated and led by Duncan Carse.  Trendall, a geologist on the Surveys of 1951-52 and 1954-53, puts accounts of the three Surveys (1951-52, 1953-54 and 1955-56) into the context of their leader Duncan Carse's life (1913-2004).  In addition there is a chapter which discusses how current conditions on South Georgia differ from those on the island in the 1950s, when it was an important base for both whaling and sealing.  The illustrations were mainly selected from those taken during the Surveys.

Ussher, Jane & Nigel Watson.  Still Life: Inside the Antarctic Huts of Scott and Shackleton.  2010 Australia, 1st, 4to, pp.223, photo frontis, 174 color photos (7 gatefolds), 2 maps, hessian cloth; issued w/o dj, cloth new.  #25921, $79.95  A beautiful photographic study of the Antarctic huts that served as expedition bases for the expeditions led by Captain Robert Falcon Scott and Sir Ernest Shackleton.  At the turn of the 20th century Antarctica was the focus of one of the last great races of exploration and discovery.  Known as the 'heroic age', from 1895 to 1917 Antarctic explorers set off from their huts in search of adventure, science and glory but some, such as Scott, were never to return.  The World Wars intervened and the huts were left as time capsules of Edwardian life.  Jane Ussher was invited by the Antarctic Heritage Trust to record 'the unusual, the hidden and minutiae of these sites'.  These images, shot with a medium-format Hasselblad, provide haunting details of the interiors of Scott's Discovery Hut, Shackleton's Cape Royds Hut, and Scott's Cape Evans Hut.  These huts were utilized during the National Antarctic Expedition 1901-04, British Antarctic Expedition 1907-09, 1910-13, Ross Sea Party of Imperial Trans-Antarctic Expedition 1914-17, and Aurora Relief Expedition 1916-17.  This book weighs 4.5 pounds.

Walton, David & Bruce Pearson.  White Horizons: British art from Antarctica, 1775-2006.  2006 UK, 1st, 4to, pp.55, 39 color & 19 bw photos, wraps; new.  #25910, $19.95  A tremendous amount of artwork has emanated from the Antarctic.  This is an interesting catalogue from an exhibition in Edinburgh in 2006.  Although some of the illustrations are small a range of styles and artists are represented.  In the back are biographies of 29 artists including Cherry-Garrard, Debenham, Fogg, Murdock, Wilson, and others.

Williams, Isobel.  Captain Scott's Invaluable Assistant: Edgar Evans.  2012 UK, 1st, 8vo, pp.191, 31 bw photos, 3 maps, wraps; new.  #25950, $25.95  Petty Officer Edgar Evans was Captain Scott's 'giant worker' and his 'invaluable assistant'.  He went with Scott on both British Antarctic Expeditions of the early 1900s – the 'Discovery' expedition of 1901 and the 'Terra Nova' expedition in 1910 – distinguishing himself on both.  In 1903, with Scott, Edgar made the first long and arduous sortie onto the Plateau of Victoria Land.  The journey highlighted his common sense, strength, courage, wit and unfailingly good humour.  Thus it came as no surprise when, in 1911, Edgar was chosen by Scott to be one of the five men to go on the final attempt at the South Pole.  Tragically the 'Welsh Giant' was the first to die on the ill-fated return, and posthumously Edgar was blamed in some quarters for causing the deaths of the whole party.  It was suggested that his failure was due to his relative lack of education, which made him less able to endure the conditions than his well-educated companions.  Williams repudiates this shameful suggestion and redresses the balance of attention paid to the upper and lower-deck members of Scott's famous expeditions.
Wilson, D. M. Nimrod Illustrated: Pictures from Lieutenant Shackleton’s British Antarctic Expedition. 2009 UK, 1st, 4to, pp.168, color frontis, 39 color & 400 bw photos, 37 color & 38 bw illus, 3 plans, 7 color & 5 bw maps, illus eps, blue cloth; dj & cloth new. #25841, $79.95

Nimrod Illustrated celebrates the centenary of one of the most exciting expeditions of the Heroic Age of Antarctic exploration. This is a remarkable collage of expedition photographs, paintings and ephemera in a deliberate reminiscence of the expedition scrapbooks kept by so many of the expedition participants at the time. Many of the images are rarely seen, if ever before published, whilst others are better known. Together with quotations from the diaries of expedition participants, they tell the story of the British Antarctic Expedition 1907-1909 which saw the first use of ponies and motor cars in the Antarctic, achieved the first ascent of Mount Erebus, achieved the first attainment of the South Magnetic Pole, and took Shackleton within 100 miles of the South Geographic Pole to attain a dramatic new ‘Farthest South’ record. This was the expedition that made Shackleton’s name as an explorer and for which he was awarded his knighthood. This is a companion book to Wilson’s previous book ‘Discovery Illustrated: Pictures from Captain Scott’s First Antarctic Expedition’.

Wilson, D. M. & C. J. Wilson. Edward Wilson’s Antarctic Notebooks. 2011 UK, 1st, 4to, pp.184, illus frontis, 3 color & 35 bw photos, 261 color & 163 bw illus, map, illus eps, brown cloth; dj & cloth new. #25963, 79.95

Dr. Edward A. Wilson (1872-1912) is widely regarded as one of the finest artists ever to have worked in the Antarctic. Sailing with Captain Scott aboard ‘Discovery’ (1901-04), he became the last in a long tradition of ‘exploration artists’ from an age when pencil and water-colour were the main methods of producing accurate scientific records of new lands and animal species. He combined scientific, topographical and landscape techniques to produce accurate and beautiful images of the last unknown continent. Such was the strength of his work that it also helped to found the tradition of modern wildlife painting. In particular Wilson captured the essence of the flight and motion of Southern Ocean sea-birds on paper. Returning with Captain Scott aboard ‘Terra Nova’ (1910-13) as Chief of Scientific Staff, he continued to record the continent and its wildlife with extraordinary deftness. Chosen to accompany Captain Scott to the South Pole, his last drawings are from one of the most famous epic journeys in exploration history. Along with his scientific work, Wilson’s pencil recorded the finding of Roald Amundsen’s tent at the South Pole by Captain Scott. Wilson died, along with the other members of the British Pole Party, during the return journey, in March 1912. Many of the images in this book are rarely seen or are previously unpublished. The drawings and paintings were created at considerable personal cost in the freezing conditions in which Wilson worked. He often suffered severely from the cold whilst sketching and also from snow-blindness, or sunburn of the eye. They provide a remarkable testament to one of the great figures of the heroic age of Antarctic exploration. The book has been produced as a companion volume to ‘Edward Wilson’s Nature Notebooks’, to mark the centenary of his death.
These are them: the most read/sold/published books of all time! Well, the last 50 years at least. Regardless of what you think of all the entries, if our want to understand the world around you and the people in it, reading these books cover to cover would be a good start. But, just like with every other book you read, never abandon your critical eye, questioning mind, or empathetic heart. 4,424 users · 47,293 views. made by private user.